

Dear All,

Thanks for all your wishes and late reply....

My Exam Resources:

CCSP AIO Daniel Carter

ISC2 Official Guide 2nd Edition by Adam Gordon

CSA Guide v 3.0

Training Session from Mr. Naresh

My Exam Preparation:

I started my preparation last year in July 2017 with ISC2 OIG and completed it in 3 weeks and then in August 2017 i attended Training Session from Mr. Naresh and that gave me fair enough & clear understanding of the concepts. This training was really much helped to me.

Then after that session I read CCSP AIO and finally I switched to CSA Guide v 3.0.

I initially had plans to take exam last year in December 2017 and due some personal reasons i could able to make it last year.

Nearly again for more than 6 months i didn't had time & chance to think about this certification and again in July 2018 I started back and went through CCSP AIO, CCSP OIG, CSA Guide v 3.0 in month of time and then started refreshing the things from Mr. Naresh training in August 2018.

Finally took exam in August 30, 2018 and passed it.

My Exam:

I took 3.40 Hrs to complete this exam totally, i completed all the questions in span of 2 Hrs and again I took nearly 1.40 Hrs to review all the questions again to make sure I got correct answers.

I was not aware that result of the exam won't appear on the screen when I submit the exam. I took CISSP in 2012 and I totally forgot did I see the results on the screen or not????

Tension Started at this phase if I pass or not??????

Finally handed over the scribbling pad and marker to proctor to know the exam results and tension started building up!

...

Now this time it was printer issue and it is not working there, so the proctor has to restart it and further tension started building up! ...

After 5 mins i got the printout saying i have provisionally passed the CCSP!

Got Relaxed and happy...

I wish you all good luck for the ones who are preparing for this exam!

Dinesh Prasad